MDTV Media Production

A Division of HSC Information Technology Services

Television Production Services

As one of the most effective forms of communications, video has the power to capture and engage your audience in a way that can not be matched by other forms of media.

What We Do

We provide professional multi-media and video production services to the faculty, staff, and the students at West Virginia University.

Production

We are dedicated to guiding you through all aspects of production from the idea, to script writing, shooting, editing, and on to completion.

Production

We can make your ideas come to life at your location, or in our 3-camera studio with a production stage, and a green screen to put your shoot anywhere you would like it to be.

Production Services

We can put you in the producer's seat and provide you with the elements to create powerful broadcast quality and HD content.
