Dispelling the Myths of Open Access: Making Informed Choices about Open Access Publishing Opportunities

Session Objectives

Following this knowledge-based program, participants should be able to:
• Define characteristics of open access vs. traditional publishing venues.
• Define ways to evaluate open access journal quality, including the identification of predatory journals.
• List tools available to find an appropriate journal in which to publish.
• List WVU open access membership and how each affects article processing charges for WVU authors.
• Describe the guidelines for applying for assistance from the WVU Open Access Authors Fund.
