VAN LIERE KEYNOTE LECTURE

"Healthcare in the Digital Era: Implications for Clinicians and Scientists"
David Brailer, MD, PhD

Dr. Brailer is a leader in entrepreneurship in health care specifically in the use of health information technology. Dr. Brailer was appointed by President George W. Bush as the nation's first National Coordinator for Health Information Technology, or most notably the first health IT czar, leading efforts to digitalize healthcare.

He is currently the Chairman for Health Evolution, an education and research firm in San Francisco.

Dr. Brailer earned his MD from the WVU School of Medicine and his PhD in economics from the Wharton School at the University of Pennsylvania.
